

Beauty Chats By Edna Kent Forbes

Keep The Teeth Young.

It is impossible to take too good care of the teeth. For, properly looked after teeth will stay strong and young throughout your life. And see the importance of this—

For, if the teeth are allowed to decay and get diseased, and they have to be pulled, there is a hollow left in the gum. Eventually, the gum sinks in; consequently, the cheek shows a hollow at this place. And such a hollow will make a woman look much older than she is. Poor looking teeth always make a mouth look old, anyway, and certainly spoil an otherwise charming smile. Many teeth pulled around the front of the mouth, leaving a gap, and that the teeth should be brushed with an up and down motion, instead of across, to get the bristles as far between the teeth as possible, and to stir the circulation of blood in the gums. This strengthens them. But will, however, even severe thoroughness is needed. At least once a day, floss should be drawn between the teeth to clear out the tiny bits of food that collect there and that will ferment and cause decay.

The best time to use the floss is before bedtime. It seems to me, for then anything that might have collected from the day's meals can be gotten out and the teeth are clean for 10 or 12 hours at least.

Questions and Answers. A bit of floss may cure a filling. Sweet Miss Mary: The only really harmless hair curlers are those made of soft kid. Other sorts pull the hair and get a very satisfactory curl by damp-enough each lock of hair, rolling it over kids and letting it dry. The best time to take a laxative, if you must have one, is at night; but really, if you will eat properly, you won't need this artificial method of clearing the system. Eat plenty of prunes, figs, oranges, spinach, olive oil, mayonnaise and such things and your diet will overcome any constipated tendency. Laxatives rather weaken the system, if used too much.
